

From a Fairy Tale to a Horror Story

Being a pretty princess with everything pink,
Living in a huge castle where I can play with my Barbie's
That's a dream I'll make come true

To have tea parties with my fluffy stuffed animals
Like the one in Alice in Wonderland
Except, I'll have a crown instead of her thin ribbon.
A huge puffy pastel dress shaped like a cupcake instead of her blue one

To have the time to learn to walk in glitter covered stilettos
Wear the brightest shade of pink blush
Lots of mascara so my eyelashes are as long and thick as a camel's
Don't forget the eyeliner so my eyes are of a raccoon
All of this will be done with my freshly manicured nails

To have all the guys wrapped around my finger
Getting all the attention as I walk down crowded streets
Pink plaid skirt with a matching purse
Freshly curled hair dancing in the breeze

To not have the time to listen to Mayday Parade
I would hate 30 Seconds to Mars and My Chemical Romance
Forget about Sleeping with Sirens, only to remember Taylor Swift
Choosing Pop over Rock without hesitation

To not have Converse or sneakers as an option
I'd always choose dresses over jeans and sweatpants
Always wearing lip gloss instead of bare lips

To not have the chance to eat a hamburger or pizza
Keeping track of the calories I consume
A green healthy salad or a full glass of clear water will do

Being a pretty princess with everything pink,
Living in a huge castle where I can play with my Barbie's
That's a nightmare that I will make sure never comes true.