

He Made Me Feel So Much Over Nothing

Boys have cooties
They're overflowing with germs
They're walking trash cans
That's what I thought until I met him

He freed the butterflies inside my stomach
When he glanced my way, the fireworks went off inside of me
He made my cheeks burn bright red like a strawberry
Everything around us would slowly disappear

He made me feel like I was special
Seeing him made the raincloud above my head go away
His smile was contagious like a disease
Which I didn't mind catching
My heart skipped a beat at the mention of his name

The smile on my face slowly faded when he mentioned her name
My heart ached as it was ripped in half and shredded to pieces
The butterflies died and shriveled into dust
There was an anchor tied to the remainings of my broken bleeding heart

He was happier than ever before
So why did it feel like a part of me died?
He stayed up thinking about her
I stayed up trying to fix my broken heart with band-aids and glue
I wish I never met him
